Jimmy Carter, who served as the 39th President of the United States, is the only president from Georgia to date.

Born in the small town of Plains, he helped manage his family’s peanut farm before getting involved in politics. The former Senator and Governor is also a high-profile proponent for the Georgia-based Habitat For Humanity. At 98 years old, Carter is both the oldest living and longest-lived president, and his 76-year-long marriage makes him the longest-married president.

The Altamaha River's drainage basin is about 14,000 square miles in size, qualifying it among the larger river basins of the US Atlantic coast.

It is the largest river in Georgia and is reportedly the third-largest contributor of fresh water to the Atlantic Ocean from North America.

During prohibition, when people continued to consume alcohol despite its banning, law officials got frustrated and decided to try a different kind of deterrent: death. They ordered the poisoning of industrial alcohols manufactured in the U.S., which were products regularly stolen by bootleggers. By the end of Prohibition in 1933, the federal poisoning program is estimated to have killed at least 10,000 people.

The world's largest relief sculpture is located on the face of Stone Mountain. The figures of Confederate President Jefferson Davis and Generals Stonewall Jackson and Robert E. Lee are depicted as well as Lee's horse, Traveler. The figures measure 90 by 190 feet, surrounded by a carved surface that covers three acres, it is larger than a football field. The carving is recessed 42 feet into the mountain. Work on the Carving began in 1915 and was completed in 1972.

Margaret Mitchell, the author of the Gone with the Wind, was born in Atlanta GA. Her time living in Georgia, and the stories she heard of those who lived in the state during the Civil War, inspired the famous story. The novel went on to win the National Book Award and Pulitzer Prize for fiction in 1937.

The beloved song “Georgia on My Mind” was written in 1930 by Hoagy
Carmichael and Stuart Gorrell.
But the tune is most commonly associated with Albany GA native Ray Charles, who recorded it for his 1960 album, “Genius Hits the Road.”
In 1979, it was designated as Georgia’s official State Song.

Rome GA was the birthplace of Ma Rainey, who’s known as “the Mother of the Blues.”
Widely considered among the first professional blues singers, Rainey was a turn-of-the-century vaudeville performer and later recorded with Louis Armstrong. She is honored every year at the Ma Rainey International Blues
Festival in Columbus GA.
